(U) SOUTHWEST BORDER

(U) Texas – Four Found Dead in Waterway near US-Mexico Border

(U) El Paso – Four men were found dead in an irrigation canal that diverts water from the Rio Grande to farmers in southern New Mexico and west Texas. Authorities discovered three of the bodies in tunnel adjoining the canal and an additional body washed up on the bank of the canal upstream. While canal drownings have occurred, officials haven't seen such a high number of victims in a single day. The suspected drownings come as more migrants cross the border and more water flows through the canals.
